

FUN CONVERSATIONS

You find a book and begin to read only to discover that it is your life. You get to the point that you are at now; do you turn the page knowing that you will not be able to change the events to come?

Would you rather get uglier or dumber? (Or reverse it... would you rather get more attractive or smarter?)

What would you do if you discovered you only had twenty-four hours to live?

If Jurassic Park were real, would you visit?

If you could spend the day in a great library learning about anything you wanted, what would you study?

If you could ask your future self from the year 2050 one question, what would you want to know?

If you could spend an hour with anyone who ever lives, who would it be? Why? What would you ask?

If your stuffed animals could talk, what would they say?

If you had to be stuck in a TV show for a month, which show would you choose? What character would you be?

If you could be one age forever what age would you choose?

If you were torturing someone with music, what is the one song you'd choose to play on repeat?

What would you rename your crayons?

What would you be called if you were a superhero?

What would your powers be?

If you could ask any wild animal a question and it could talk back to you, what would you ask?

Sometimes the best funny things are stories from your own life. When did you do something dumb, say something embarrassing, or make everyone laugh? Better yet, when did they?

You can ask questions that are about real situations (stealing cookies, breaking a picture or window with a ball, stealing the car) or crazy scenarios. The idea is to be creative. "If you could ...?" questions and "Would you rather ...?" questions are easy and fun.
